Video Update – August 2017

Steve Berg, CCMBC Interim Executive Director
Bruce Enns, CCMBC Executive Board Moderator

Steve: Coming up, we are looking forward to a really important event this fall, November 1–3. We’re going to be gathering in Abbotsford, British Columbia, at Northview Community Church. And our primary reason to gather is to have this EQUIP 2017 opportunity to talk about discipleship – transformative discipleship.

We would encourage you to go on the website to find both the schedule and the kinds of things that will be taking place there. It is going to be a full “menu” of opportunities to think and talk about discipleship, and to understand how we as individuals and as churches can be about making followers of Jesus Christ, making disciples of Jesus Christ.

Bruce: Let me pick up on the discipleship piece. I so agree and really encourage churches to come, to send people. I know even in my local church in Saskatoon, [we’re] encouraging people to be a part of that and to put that on your calendar and come out. Discipleship is absolutely at the core of the Great Commission that Jesus has given us: “to go and make disciples.” So what does that mean? How do we understand it? How do we mobilize people into discipleship and live out of that discipleship, so that people are transformed, churches are transformed, communities are transformed in the good news of Jesus Christ? That’s what we want.
